

Harry Suckling

Top contributor · 28 September at 19:27 · 🗨️

Evening all,

Just a quick post to bring a path change to people's attention. My Father and Grandfather have recently purchased some land near to Grove Farm, and the previous owner had created a track (marked in blue) to access some more of their fields. This was adopted as a path by walkers, and has been used as such for a few years now.

We have now ploughed and drilled this path to include it with the field, but in the process, have been on the receiving end of much abuse and argument. I would like to make it clear, that it was never a footpath, and we would not like it to be used as such from now on. The true route is the line marked red on the first map. The paths marked in orange remain unchanged, and the rest of the track in question will remain as a permissive path (marked white), in the spirit of good will.

We would like to keep people from using this path (blue), as the Oilseed Rape crop will be emerging imminently.

Having said that, we would be happy to grant the blue line as a PROW IF the red lines (current footpaths) were to be extinguished as footpaths.

Thank you for your co-operation.

Various responses and comments followed this post remarking that the path had been in use for many years.

