Jo

Not in this case. It is a small gap and young planted trees would be quite shaded. I was thinking we could:

> Install a temporary 'dead hedge' in the gap using a few of stakes twiggy brushwoodand;
> Let the adjacent hedge grow into and fill the gap.
> The dead hedge would be left to rot down
> A single tree, such as a Hawthorn, Rowan or Field Maple, planted in the existing protective guard in which an earlier planted tree has died.

Costs would be roughly as follows if we had to pay and not get a tree from Babergh:

Field maple: Bare root tree from HEDGEs Direct is £2.99 plus compost £10. Spiral guard and cane: £1. Postage and packing is required

Hawthorn: Bare root tree from HEDGEs Direct is £4.10 plus compost £10. Spiral guard and cane: £1. Postage and packing is required

Rowan: Potgrown tree from HEDGEs Direct is £37.99 plus compost £10. Spiral guard and cane: £1. Postage and packing is required

I have emailed Richard Parmee to see what he can supply, if anything.

Does it help if I come along to the Council meeting on the 16th?

Regards

Geoff
